Kim Murphy | A Better Way

Kimberly Murphy has always been committed to social and economic justice for at risk children and families within the community. As a human service professional, Kimberly has dedicated over 25 years to supporting and advocating for at-risk children, adolescence, and families from culturally, socio-economically, and ethnically diverse populations. Kimberly has always supported and advocated for families in contact with the Child Welfare System, first as a family advocate in a family preservation program and now as a Director of Social Services Programs within A Better Way.
