

Stanford MEDICINE | Early Life Stress and Resilience Program

We would like to invite you to participate in a short research study led by the Stanford Early Life Stress and Resilience Program (ELSRP), examining wellbeing during the COVID-19 pandemic and overall program success. The study is comprised of a brief survey to be taken before our first session, shortly after, and again two months later. Your participation would help us to continue learning about their group continue learning about the complex nature of pandemic-related stress and improve their program for the community. If you are interested in participating, please click the link below:
